LECTORI: TO THE READER

This compilation is intended to make the content of the rare Latin and Greek books at the University of Florida Special Collections Library more accessible to the academic community. It outlines in detail the contents of each book both in the original ancient language and in English and provides researchers with a searchable document for the collection as a whole. It has been designed to work hand-in-hand with the George A. Smathers Libraries catalog at the University of Florida, but provides some features which are not found in the catalog. Most importantly, this document offers translations of Latin and Greek (and the occasional French) into English in order to make it useful to researchers of various language abilities, and it offers a detailed outline of the contents of each item, including page numbers of individual sections. It has been prepared by scholars with doctorates in Classics who have taken great care to ensure the accuracy of the material, but some mistakes may still exist. The records have been updated as much as resources would allow, but since the rare books collection is a constantly growing collection, we must warn that this document may not be an exhaustive representation of the Latin and Greek rare books collection at the University of Florida, but rather it serves as a starting point for researchers. We encourage readers to use the document to its fullest, and then conduct their own searches. Below we have included only Classical works in Latin and Greek. Classical works which appear solely in English or French or any other modern translation are not included here.

The Table of Contents is divided into two chapters, one for Latin works and one for Greek works. Within these two chapters, the names of ancient authors are arranged in alphabetical order as headings, and their works follow their names as subheadings. Some authors with many and various works in the collection, like Cicero and Horace, will have multiple headings. To visit the works of a particular author, find the heading for the author’s name in the Table of Contents and then press the “Ctrl” button on the keyboard while clicking on the name with the mouse. To visit a particular work by a particular author, find the subheading for that work, and then press the “Ctrl” button while clicking on the name of the work. In doing this, researchers can navigate the document quickly and easily to focus on individual authors and works.

The document also allows researchers to search for key terms throughout the entire document using the “Ctrl + f” function. For example, if researchers are interested in books published in London, they can press “Ctrl” and “f” to pull up the search box, type “London” or “Londini” in the search box, and then press “Enter” to see the search results. Researchers can also search partial words, which is especially useful for searching in Latin or Greek. For example, researchers interested in studying the messages of authors to their readers can search “lector” and get both “lector” and “lectorem” as results. This tool is useful for helping researchers focus on individual cities, publishing houses, proper names, etc., in English, Latin, and Greek, and again can help researchers obtain more accurate information about the collection as a whole.

When searching for specific call numbers within the text, if no results are returned, try removing all blank spaces in the call number.

This document is also color-coded to aid the reader with the navigation of information. Author, title, publisher, date, and other title page information is given in the original language in black. The translation of this information is given in red. Additional bibliographical information, such as the condition of an item or its detailed contents, is given in blue.

Books that were discovered at the very end of the project are added in a “See also” section at the end of each author. Because these volumes were found so late, there was no time to expand upon their contents, but the researchers did not want to leave them out completely.

We trust this document will be of great use to all students of Latin and Greek and the Classics in general. Countless hours of work by multiple individuals have gone into its preparation. The project was inspired by a document originally created ca. 1989 by Michael Mirabito, M.A. Classics. It was adapted by Samuel Huang, curator of rare books, in 2014 for the Classics Summer Institute, led by Professor Andrew Nichols and comprised of distance learning students from the UF Classics Department. Participants were interested in knowing more about what the Smathers Libraries had to offer in their area of study. Students were astonished by the collection and wanted to know more. With a generous grant from the libraries, Sam was able to hire two young UF scholars with doctorates in Classics, Dr. Megan Daly and Dr. William Smith, to work on the project. Several faculty members, including Dr. Nichols and Dr. Van Steen of the UF Classics Department and Dr. Blake Landor, librarian of Classics, philosophy, and religion, contributed their support. Working from February through July 2015, Drs. Daly and Smith were able to use Mr. Mirabito’s bibliography to start a detailed finding aid for the collection. They translated, updated, and expanded the document to better reflect the contents of the collection. Thereafter, Daly worked at times as a volunteer and again as a research employee with Sam to reformat the finding aid and make corrections, edits, and additions. This document is the result of their hard labors. Special thanks also are due to John Nemmers, Michelle Wilbanks, and the many students who worked in the Grand Reading Room at the time. The efforts of everyone named here have proved that the Classics continue to prosper in our lives.

Noes: Omnia poemata cum ratione carminum, & argumentis ubique insertis, interpretationibus Acrone, Porphyrine, Iano Parrhasio, Antonio Mancinello, necnon Iodoco Badio Ascensio viris eruditissimis. Scholisque Angeli Politiani, M. Antonii Sabellici, Ludovici Coelii Rodigini, Baptistae Pii, Petri Criniti, Aldi Manutii, Mattaei Bonsinis, & Iacobi Bononiensis nuper adiunctis. His nos praeterea annotationes doctissimorum Antonii Thylesii, Consentini, Francisci Robertelli Utinensis atque Henrici Glareani apprime utiles addidimus. Nicolai Peroti Sipontini libellus de metris odarum; auctoris vita ex Petro Crinito Florentino. Quae omnia longe politius, ac diligentius, quam hactenus excusa in lucem prodeunt. Index copiosissimus omnium vocabulorum, qua in toto opere animadversione digna visa sunt. All the poems with an account of the odes and with summaries inserted throughout with interpretations from the most learned men Acron, Porphry, Ianus Parrhasius, Antonius Mancinellus, and also Iodocus Badius Ascensius. And with the notes of Angelus Politianus, M. Antonius Sabellicus, Ludovicus Doelius Rodiginus, Baptista Pius, Petrus Crinitus, Aldus Manutius, Mattaeus Bonsinus, & Iacob Bononiensis recently added. To these we have added besides the especially useful comments of the most learned men Antonius Thylesius, Consentinus, Franciscus Robertellus Utinensis, atque Henricus Glareanus. A short book about the meters of the Odes by Nicolai Perotus Sipontini. The life of the author by Petrus Crinitus Florentinus. All these things are brought into light having been explained in more polished manner and more accurately by far than up to this point. A very copious index of all words, which in the whole work seemed worthy of attention.

Notes: Ex fide atque auctoritate complurium librorum manuscriptorum, opera Dionysii Lambini Monstroliensis literarum Graecarum professoris & Interpretis Regii cum diversis exemplaribus antiquis comparatus et emendatus, atque Commentariis copiosissimis explicatus: & ab eodem paulo antequam e vita decederet recognitus, atque mendis omnibus perpurgatus, & Commentariis hac editione plus tertia parte auctis dilucidius explicatus. Accesserunt etiam in hac editione praeter breves annotationes in omnes Horatii odas ad faciliorem contextus intelligentiam. Henrici Stephani diatribae operum Horatii ordinem exponentes. From the faith and authority of several books of manuscripts, the work of Dionysius Lambinus Monstroliensis, professor of Greek literature and interpreter of the King, compiled and emended with diverse ancient transcripts, and set forth with very abundant commentary: and brought to light by the same man a little bit before he departed from life, and thoroughly cleansed of all mistakes, and explained more clearly with commentary increased in this edition by more than one third. Also added in this edition besides are brief notes on all the Odes of Horace for easier understanding of context. Henri Estienne’ discourses of the works of Horace are laid out in order.

Notes: Dionysii Lambini monstroliensis regii professoris, commentarius locupletissimus. Sexta et postrema editio emendatissima, atque ad eam conformata, quae ab auctore paulo ante obitum fuit recognita. Additae sunt H. Stephani diatribae, unde felix ac facilis obscuriorum locorum explicatio peti potest. A very abundant commentary by Dionysius Lambinus Monstroliensis, professor of the king. The sixth and last edition thoroughly emended, and made to conform to that which was recognized by the author a little bit before passing away. Added are the discussions of Henri Estienne, whence a fruitful and simple explanation of rather obscure passages is able to be sought.

The cover of this book is quite embellished, but also shows signs of damage. A book tag on the inside cover reads “Des livres Mr. le Comte, Henry Chandon de Briailles, 1898-1937.” A tag on the first leaf reads “au Cte. Chandon de Briailles.” There is also some handwriting in pencil.

Contents:
A note handwritten in ink dated 1647. A paper seal is pasted.

Notes: Cum directorio vocabulorum sententiarum artis comicae glosa interlineari commentariis Donato Guidone, Ascensio. Elaboratum et denuo revisum atque collectum ex diversis commentariis. Terentii vita excerpta de dictis D. F. Petrarcha. With an index of words and a glossary of the terms of the comic art along with the commentaries of Donatus Guido, Ascensus. Revised and labored over again and gathered from several commentaries. An excerpt on the life of Terence from Petrarch is included.
With 6 beautiful full-page woodcuts and 156 very beautiful small woodcuts. A very remarkable and interesting volume. Between the lines, the commentary on the edge provides instructions about gestures and intonation. Remarkable as evidence of the way in which the Middle Ages were anxious to acquire the art of the ancients. Furthermore, this issue is valuable and sought because of the large number of beautiful woodcuts.

Item rerum publicarum descriptiones ex Heraclide. Cum Latina interpretatione Iusti W. Wetteranu utrique e regione accomodata et ad graecum exemplar. Multo quam antehac emendatius, nunc denuo quam diligentissime recognita. Also the descriptions of the published works of Heraclides. With a Latin translation by Justus Wetteranus and each from the entrusted region according to the Greek original. With much emended before this time. Now examined anew as diligently as possible.

In this edition we follow Tigurina (Zurich) Gesner (publisher) in the Greek of Aelianus that has been emended with all that remains: (against the Roman of Peruscus? In each you will discover not a few things restored. But in the version of Wltey you have countless instances, which we have at last taken care to compare with the Greek, and it has been restored and emended from this. Farewell.
(In hac editione Tigurinam Gesner. in Graeco Aelaii securi sumus, quod reliquis omnibus longe emendatori esset: in Heraclidis, Romanam Perusci. In utroque tamen non paucu reperies restituta. At in versione Wltey innumera habes, quae nunc demum curavimus cum Graeco conferri, ex eoq restitui & emendari. Vale.)

Aesop

Author: Aesop
Title: Habentur hoc volumine haec: vita & fabellae Aesopi cum interpretatione Latina. These works are contained in this volume: the life and fables of Aesop with Latin Translation.
Published: Venetiis, Apud Aldum, 1505. Venice, Aldine Press, 1505.
Location: UF SMATHERS, Special Coll Rare Books (Non-Circulating) -- 881A3 Oversize
Link: UFDC
Notes: The selections from Aphthonius and Philostratus, the vita from Maximus Planudes, the Fables of Aesop and the Fables of Babrius [first impression] are in Greek and Latin on opposite pages. Edited and translated by Aldus Pius Manutius [1449/50-1515].
Habentur hoc volumine haec: vita & fabellae Aesopi cum interpretatione Latina, ita tamen ut separari a graeco possit pro unius ciusque arbitrio. quibus traducendis multum certe elaboravimus, nam quae ante translata habebantur, infida admodum erant, quod facillimum erit conferenti cognoscere. Gabriae Fabellae tres & quadraginta ex trimetris iambis, praeter ultimam ex scazonte, cum latina interpretatione. Quas idcirco bis curavimus in formandas, quia priores, ubi latinum a graeco seuiungi potest, admodum quam incorrecte excusae fuerant exempli culpa. quare nacti emendatum exemplum, opera pretium visum est iterum excudendas curare, ut ex secundis prima queant corrigi. Phurnutus seu, ut alii Curnutus de natura dearm. Palaephatus de non credendis historiis. Heraclides Ponticus de allegoriis apud Homerum. Ori Apollinis Niliaci Hieroglyphica. Collectio proverbiorum Tarrhaei & Didymi, item eorum, quae apud Sudam [sic] aliosque habentur per ordinem literarum. Ex Aphthonii exercitamentis de fabula. Tum de formicis & imaginibus Philostrati graece & latine. Ex Hermogenis exercitamentis de fabula Prisciano interprete. Apologus Aesopi de cassita apud Gellium. These works are contained in this volume: the life and fables of Aesop with a Latin translation, nevertheless in such a way that it could be distinguished from the Greek according to the judgment of each one. With these things to be translated, we truly toiled greatly, for that which had been translated before was exceedingly unfaithful, which will be very easy for one comparing to recognize. There are forty-three fables of Gabrias in iambic trimeter, except the last, which is in scazons, with Latin translation. Therefore we have twice arranged into models, because the earlier, when the Latin could be separated from the Greek, had certainly been printed incorrectly by the fault of the original. For that reason we obtained an emended copy, the value of the work seemed worthy of making an effort to print out another copy, so that the first could be corrected from the second. Whether Phurnutus or, as others, Curnutus on the nature of the gods. Palaephatus On Incredible Tales. Heraclides Ponticus On Allegories in Homer. The Hieroglyphica of Horus Apollo Nilous. A Collection of the proverbs of Tarrhaeus and Didymus, likewise of those which are in the Suda and others by order of the books. From the exercises from fable of Aphthonius. Then About Ants and Cicadas in Greek and Latin. Then concerning fable from the Imagines of Philostratus in Greek and Latin. From the Exercises of Hermogenes concerning fable with the translation of Priscian. The fable of Aesop about the Lark in Gellius.

Notes: Quibus duplex rhetorica strictim explicatur, altera, quae praecepta tradit persuadendi, altera, quae re ipsa persuadet: & praecepta cuiusque oratoriae quaestionis in unum conducuntur ad usum accomodatae, ac operibus veterum oratorum perpenduntur: interiecta etiam suis in locis doctrina Hermogenis ex libro de statibus: & adiuncto compendio eiusdem artis rhetoricae Aristotelis. Quibus accessit eiusdem Antonii Riccoboni a Jo. Mario Matio Brixiano dissensio de quibusdam locis Quintiliani probatibus rhetoric ad Herennium esse Cornificii. In which rhetoric is exolained summarily twice, first, the precepts of persuading, second, what persuades by its nature: and the precepts of each investigation of oratory are gathered into one for the purpose of suitability, and weighed carefully by the works of old orators: with the doctrine of Hermogenes from his book On Legal Issues inserted: and with an abridgment of this same Arot of Rhetoric of Aristotle. Added to this is the disagreement of Antonius Riccobonus with Jo Marius Matius the Brescian concerning certain passages in Quintilian proving the Rhetoric for Herennius was by Cornificius.

Consists of illustrations which were cut out of a manuscript of the Iliad in such a way that practically nothing is left of the text except what was written on the backs of illustrations themselves…A probable date for the manuscript is somewhere round about the IVth century A.D.

As regards the picture…it will be enough to say that they are very great significance: in them is preserved for us a copy of such illustrations to Homeric poems as were made in ancient times by Greek artists both in painting and in sculpture. In fact the gods and the heroes, their headgear, their arms, and other details, are of the same type as those found in works which have survived from the 1st century and in works of the ancient tradition in general.

Notes: Edited by H. Estienne. Graece nunc primum ditae. Now for the first time offered in Greek.

Henri Estienne’s dedicatory letter to Arnoldus Arlenius (Henricus Stephanus Arnoldo Arlenio S.D.)
Listing of the essays of Maximus of Tyre (τῶν Μαξίμου Τυρίου λόγων αἱ ὑπομένεις)
1 What is God according to Plato? (περὶ τοῦ τίς ὁ θεὸς κατὰ Πλάτωνα)
10 Whether Injuries are to be returned (περὶ τοῦ ἐπὶ τὸν ἀδικήσαντα ἀνταδικητέον)
16 If there is divination, is anything in our power? (περὶ τοῦ ἐπὶ μαντικῆς οὐσῆς ἔστι τὶ ἐφ’ ἡμῖν)
21 How to distinguish flatterer to friend (τίσι χωριστέοι τὸν κόλακα τοῦ φίλου)
27 Which is better, active or theoretic life? (ὅτι ὁ πρακτικὸς βίος ἀμείγνων τοῦ θεωρητικοῦ)
34 That the theoretic is better than the active life (ὅτι ὁ θεωρητικὸς βίος ἀμείνων τοῦ πρατικοῦ)
41 Did Plato do well in expelling Homer from his republic (Εἴ καλὼς ὁ Πλάτων ὁμηρον τῆς πολιτείας παρηθήσατο)
46 What was the amatory art of Socrates? (τίς ἢ Σωκράτος ἐρωτική)
54 About the erotic arts of Socrates (Περὶ τῆς Σωκράτους ἐρωτικῆς)
58 Again on the erotic art of Socrates (Περὶ τῆς Σωκράτους ἐρωτικῆς)
65 On love in Socrates (Περὶ ἀγάπης Σωκράτους)
70 That philosophic discourse is more pleasurable than others (Ὅτι πάσης τῆς διαλόγων Ἀφροσύνης ἢ διὰ φιλοσόφων λόγων ἀμείνων)
76 Are soldiers or husbandmen more important in a city? (τίνες λυσπελέστεροι πῶλει, οἱ προπολεμοῦντες, ἢ γεωργοῦντες)
82 That husbandmen are more useful (Ὅτι γεωργοὶ τῶν προπολεμοῦντων λυσπελέστεροι)
86 That discourses corresponding to works are best (ὅτι οἱ σύμφωνοι τοῖς ἑργοῖς λόγοι ἀριστοί)
92 If there is a philosophical sect according to Homer (εἰ ἔστι καθ’ ὁμηρον αἱρέσις)
99 If virtue is an art (εἰ τέχνη ἢ ἄρετή)
104 How a man lives without sorrow (πῶς ἄν τις ἀλυτος εἴη)
107 What is the end of philosophy? (τί τέλος φιλοσοφίας)
113 If the life of a cynic is to be preferred (εἰ προηγούμενος ὁ τοῦ κυνικοῦ βίος)
120 Whether the liberal disciplines contribute to virtue (εἰ συμβάλλεται πρὸς τὴν ἄρετήν τά ἐγκύκλια μαθήματα)
126 Whether one can be a good man through divine allotment (εἰ γέωστο τις θεία, μοίρα, ἄγαθος)
132 If good is greater than good, in which it is shown that it is not (ὅτι οὐκ ἔστιν ἄγαθον μείζον)
138 If good is greater than good in which it is shown that it is (ὅτι ἔστιν ἄγαθον ἄγαθοι μείζον)
144 If divinity produces good, whence do evils originate? (τοῦ θεοῦ τὰ ἄγαθα πτωοῦντος, πόθεν τὰ κακά)
150 What was the demon of Socrates (τί τοῦ δαιμόνιον Σωκράτους)
156 About the demon of Socrates (Περὶ τοῦ Σωκράτους δαιμονίου)
162 If disciplines are reminiscences (εἰ αἱ μαθήσεις ἄναμνήσεις)
169 Have poets better conceptions of gods than philosophers? (τίνες ἀμείνων πρὸ θεῶν διέλαβον, ποιηταὶ ἢ φιλόσοφοι)
175 About the necessity of prayer (περὶ Μίδου τοῦ φρυγός)
181 Concerning pleasure (περὶ ἡδονῆς, ὃτι ἡδονῆ, εἰ τὸ ἄγαθον, ἀλλ᾽ οὐ βέβαιον)
186 Although pleasure is good, it is not stable (ἐτὶ πρὸ αὐτό, ὃτι ἡδονῆ, εἰ ἄγαθον, ἀλλ᾽ οὐ βέβαιον)
189 Again on pleasure (ἐτὶ πρὸ αὐτό, ὃτι ἡδονῆ, εἰ ἄγαθον, ἀλλ᾽ οὐ βέβαιον)
195 What is the end of philosophy? (τί τέλος φιλοσοφίας)
202 That it is possible to derive advantage from adverse circumstances (ὅτι ἔστι τὸ ἐκ τῶν προσαντῶν ὑφελείας)
206 How man ought to prepare himself with respect to a friend (τῷ ἐν τις πρὸς φίλων παρασκευᾶσθε) 211 That the discourse of the philosopher is adapted to every subject (ὅτι πρὸς πᾶσας ὑπόθεσεις ἀρμόζεται ὁ τοῦ φιλοσόφου λόγος)
221 Should statues be dedicated to the gods? (εἴ θεοῖς ἀγάλματα ἱδρυτέον)
227 If Socrates did well defending himself (εἴ καλῶς ἔποιήσε Σκράτης, μὴ ἀπολογόησεται)
233 What science is (τί ἔστιν ἔπιστήμη)
239 Which diseases are worse, those of body or soul? (πότερα χαλέπτωτερα νοσήματα, τὰ τοῦ σώματος ἢ τὰ τῆς ψυχῆς)
245-263 Corrections of Henri Estienne (Henrici Stephani… castigationes)
The essays of Maximus Tyrius in Latin (Maximi Tyrii philosophi Platonici sermones sive disputationes)
Preface of Archbishop Cosmus Paccius (Cosmi Paccii Archiepiscopi praefatio)
Peter Paccius to the reader (Petrus Paccius viris literatis)
Arrangement of essays (Argumenta sermonum)

Notes: In quibus Historiam Belli Troiani ab interitu Hectoris ad excidium & calamitosi Graecorum reditus; Homeric orationis genere persquitur. Latine olim reddita & correcta a Laurentio Rhodomanno. Nunc accesit Epitome Gemina, tum Homeri & Cointi, tum universa Historiae Troianae. Itemque D. Chryostomoi Oratio de Ilio non capto. Auctore et interprete eodem. In this work, done in Homeric style, the history of the Trojan War is taken up from the burial of Hecto to the destruction and the miserable return of the Greeks. Previously translated into Latin and corrected by Laurentius Rhodomanus. Now added is a repeated epitome, one of Homer then of Quintus, then the entire Trojan History. Also included is the oration of Dio Chrysostom On Troy not being Captured. The same author provides translations for these works.

386-398 On Common Venus Which Fosters Human Procreation and On the Love of Pleasures of the Body (περὶ ἀφροδιτῆς πανδήμου παρεχούσης τὴν αἰτίαν τῆς γενέσεως τοῖς ἀνθρώποις ἔρωτος τῶν κατὰ τὸ σώμα ἢδονῶν, de venere vulgere, quae generationis humanae causam fovet & de amore voluptatum corporis)
398-406 Reproach of Venus and that Anor is Evil and the Author of Many Evils (ψόγος Αφροδίτης καὶ ὅτι φαύλος ὁ Ἐρως χαὶ πόθων εἰη κακῶν γεγονύς αἰτίως, vituperatio Veneris & quod malus sit Anor, ac multorum malorum autor) 406-409 Praise of Beauty (ὑπὲρ κάλλους, laus pulchritudinis) 409-411 Against Beauty (κατὰ κάλλους contra pulchritudinem) 411-419 Praise of Marriage (ὅτι κάλλιστον γάμος, laus nuptiarum) 419-422 That Marrying is not Good (ὅτι οὐκ ἄγαθον τὸ γαμέτιν, quod uxor em ducere non bonum sit) 422-425 That, Because of the Many Customs of Marriage, It is Sometimes Helpful and Sometimes Harmful (ὅτι τοῖς μὲν ἐπικεφαλῆ τὸν γάμον τοῖς δὲ ἀσύμφορον ὁ τῶν συναπτομένων ἀπετέλεσε τρόπος, quod pro diversis coniugum moribus nunc prosint, nunc obsint nuptiae) 425-428 On the Seeking of a Wife and More on Marriage (περὶ μνηστείας ἔτι καὶ περὶ γάμου, de uxoris petitione et amplius de nuptiis) 428 On the Age in which Marriage should be Considered (ὅτι ἐν τοῖς γάμοις τὰς τῶν συναπτομένων ἥλικιας χρῆ κατετεῖν, quod in nuptiis utriusque aetas consideranda sit) 428-431 That in Uniting in Marriage, it is not Right to Observe Nobility or Wealth but Customs (ὅτι ἐν τοῖς γάμοις οὐ τὴν εὐγένειαν οὖδε τὸν πλούσιον χρῆ κατετεῖν ἀλλὰ τὸν τρόπον, in contrahendis nuptiis non oportere nobilitatem neque divitias spectare sed mores) 431-437 Reproach of Wives and More on Marriage (ψόγος γυναικῶν ἔτι καὶ περὶ γάμου, vituperatio mulierum & amplius de nuptiis) 437-447 Wedding Precepts (γαμικὰ παραγγέλματα, nuptialia praecerta) 447-450 That it is Good to have Children (ὅτι καλὸν τὸ ἔχειν παίδας, quod bonum sit habere filios) 451-452 That it is Useless to have Offspring and not Know whether the Child is One’s Own and Likewise that it is not Right to Adopt or whether it is better than Raising One’s Own (ὅτι ἀσύμφορον τὸ ἔχειν νομιζόντων καὶ μηδὲ θετὸν ποιεῖτας, quod inutile sit habere prolem et incertu an propria sit eius qui suam esse putat: item non adoptari oportere (vel id potius quam proprion suscipere) 452-453 That Virile Offspring is Preferable and that It is no less to Raise Illegitimate Children than One’s Own (ὅτι ἄσυμφορον τὸ ἔχειν νομιζόντων καὶ μηδὲ θετὸν ποιεῖτας, quod inutile sit habere filios & quod nothos non minoris facere oportere seque legitimos filios) 453 On Young Children (περὶ νηπίων, de pueros) 454-465 Whether it is necessary for Parents to Come before Children in Owed Honor and Whether it is always Right to Obey Them (ὅτι χρῆ τοῖς γονεῖς τῆς κάθεκουσί τιμῆς καταξιοῦσθαι παρὰ τῶν τέκνων καὶ εἰ ἐν ἅπασιν αὐτοῖς πειτεῖον, quod liberos honorem debitum praestare parentibus oporteat & an per omnia eis obedire conveniat) 465-468 On Gods and the Physiology of Heaven and Earth (περὶ θεῶν καὶ τῆς περὶ τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ κόσμον φυσιολογίας, de diis et physiologia circa caelum ac mundum) 468-472 On Literature (περὶ γραμμάτων, de litteris) 472-473 Against Literature (εἰς τὸ ἔναντίον περὶ γραμμάτων, adversus literas)
473-475 How Ought Parents be Towards Children and Whether each is Affected Mutually By a Certain Natural Necessity (ὅποιοις πινάς χρή εἶναι τοὺς πατέρας περὶ τὰ τέκνα καὶ φυσικὴ τὶς ἀνάγκη ἄμφοτερος εἰς διάθεσιν ἄγει, quales nam oporteat esse patres erga liberos & quod utrique naturali quadam necessitate mutuo afficiantur)

476-485 That it is Very Honorable and Brotherly Love and Affection of Mind Towards Relatives and What is Necessary (ὅτι κάλλιστον ἡ φιλαδελφία καὶ ἡ περὶ τῆς κατὰ τὰς οἰκίας ἐπιμελείας καὶ περὶ γνώσεων παραγγέλματα, honestissimum esse fraternum amorem & animi affectum erga cognatos quodque necessarii sint)

485-492 Economics (οἰκονόμικος, oeconomicus)

492-496 On Nobility and that Nobles are Those Who Live According to Virtue Although not With Clear, Good, and Gifted Manners (περὶ εὐγενείας ὃτι εὐγενεῖς οἱ κατ’ ἄρετὴν ἔωντες κἂν μὴ λαμπρῶν εἰς γεγόντες πατέρων καὶ ἀγαθῶν τὸν τρόπον, de nobilitate quod nobiles illi sint quia secundum virtutem vivunt quamvis non claris nec bonis moribus praeditis)

496-497 That Children are not Always Similar to their Good and Noble Parents (ὅτι οὐκ ἀεὶ τοῖς εὐγενεῖσι καὶ χρηστοῖς τῶν πατέρων ἐόει τὰ τέκνα, liberos non semper evader similes nobilibus ac bonis parentibus)

497-499 That Those are Nobles Who are Born to God, or Powerful, or Famous Parents (ὅτι εὐγενεῖς οἱ ἀπὸ χρηστὸν πατέρων ἡ δυνατῶν ἡ ἐνδόξων γενόμενοι, nobiles illos esse quam qui parentibus bonis aut potentibus aut claris orti sunt)
551 On Doctors and Medicine (περὶ ἰατρῶν καὶ ἰατρικῆς, de medicis et medicina)
551-557 On Felicity (περὶ εὐδαιμονίας, de foelicitate)
558-559 On Infelicity (περὶ κακοδαιμονίας, de infoelicitate)
559-565 Whether Prosperity of Men is Uncertain and Can Change Suddenly for the Worse (ὅτι ἀβέβαιος ὁ τῶν ἀνθρώπων εὔπραξία μεταπτομούσης ῥαδίως τῆς τύχης, quod inconstans sit hominum prosperitas cum fortuna facile mutetur in statum deteriorem)

564-566 On Thos Who are Undeservedely Fortunate (περὶ τῶν παρ᾽ ἄξιον εὐπρόσωπων, de illis qui fortunati sunt indigne)
566-567 Thow Whoe are Undeservedely Wretched (περὶ τῶν παρ᾽ ἄξιον δυσπρόσωπων, de illis qui indigne miser sunt)
567-578 That The Game Must be Handled Bravely and Men Ought to Lead a Life According to Virtue (ὅτι δεῖ γενναίος φέρειν τὰ προστίθηται ὁντας ἀνθρώπους καὶ κατ᾽ ἄρετην ζῆν ὀφείλουσας, quod eventus rerum fortiter ferendi sint hominibus & secundam virtutem vitam institutere debentibus)
578 On Timidity (περὶ μικρομυχίας, de pusillanimitate)
578-579 That Good Fortune Must be Brought Forth, Bad Must be Concealed and Present Circumstances Must be Handled Correctly (ὅτι δεῖ τὰς μὲν εὐτυχίας προφάνειν τὰς δὲ κρύπτειν καὶ ὀρθῶς κεχρῆθαι τοῖς παρούσι, bonam fortunam proferendam esse malam vero celandam & rebus praesentibus recte utendum)
579-581 On Hope (περὶ ἐπίδειας, de spe)
581-582 On Hopelessness (περὶ τῶν παρ᾽ ἐπίδειας, de insperatis eventibus)
582-583 (ὅτι οὐ χρή ἐπιχαίρειν τοῖς ἀπυχοῦσι, non esse gaudendum ob alienas calamitates)
583-584 On the Need for the Unfortunate to be Consoled (ὅτι οἱ ἀθυμοῦντες χρῆζοισι τῶν συμπαθείων, infortunatos opus habere condolentibus)
584-585 That it is Easier to Advise Another than Yourself (ὅτι ράον ἀλλον παρανευμεν ἢ ἔστων, quod facilius sit alium admonere quam seipsum)
585-590 Praise of Old Age (ἔπαινος γήρως, laus senectutis)
590-594 Reproach of Old Age (ψόγος γήρως, vituperium senectutis)
594-598 That Prudence Takes Away the Burden of Old Age and Much Reverence Brings About that Very Worthy Thing (ὅτι τὸ γήρας ἀνέπαθης καὶ πολλῆς αἰοδοὺς ἄξιον ἢ σύνεσις ἀπεργᾶται, quod senectutis molestiam prudentia tollat ipsamque multa reverentia dignam efficiat)
599-601 On Death and That it is Inevitable (περὶ θανάτου καὶ ὡς εἶ ἀφυκτός, de morte et quod inevitabilis sit)
601-602 Praise of Life (ἔπαινος ζωῆς, vitae laus)
602-607 Praise of Death (ἔπαινος θανάτου, laus mortis)
608-612 Comparison of Life and Death (σύγκρισις ζωῆς καὶ θανάτου, comparatio vitae et mortis)
612-613 On Mourning (περὶ πένθους, de luctu)
613-615 On Burial (περὶ τάφης, de sepultura)
615-619 On Consolation (παρηγορικά, consolatoria)
619-620 On Not Insulting the Dead (ὅτι οὐ χρή παροινεῖν εἰς τοὺς τετελευτηκότας, in defunctos non exercendam esse contumeliam)
620-621 The Memory of Most Vanishes Quickly after Death (ὅτι τῶν πλείστων μετὰ θάνατον ἡ μνήμη διαρρέεται ταχέως, memoriam plurimum a morte statim evanescere)

621-622 Certain Opinion of Theoctistus Extremely Useful for Those Who with a Peaceful and Gentle Mind near the Order of Greek Literature (γνώμης θεοκτίστου πρὸς τοὺς μαλακῶς καὶ ὑπερτέρως διακειμένους μάλιστα τὴν ὡφέλειαν παρέχουσαι κατὰ στοιχεῖον, sententiae quaedam theoctistae perquam utiles ad eos qui molli & supino sunt animo iuxta literarum Graecarum seriem)

622-628 Gessner's translation of Theodorus's Stranger in Friendship (Κύριου Θεοδώρου τοῦ προδρόμου ἐπὶ ἀποδήμου τῆ φιλίας, Cyri Theodori Prodomi Amicitia Exulans, Conrado Gessnero interprete)

Notes: Lorenzo Valla’s was the first Latin translation of Thucydides. He undertook the difficult task as Papal Scriptor under Pope Nicolas V, and finished the work in little more than two years, in 1452. It was first printed together with the Greek text, but Estienne edited the Latin version separately in 1564. This second edition claims to be “accuratior multis partibus.” It contains also Marcellinus’ life of Thucydides, Christaeus’s Chronology, an Index of Orations and Estienne’s comments.

Ex interpretatione Laurentii Vallae ab Henrico Stephano iterum recognita. In hac secunda editio quae & accuratior multis partibus quam prima & melior est haec amplius etiam quam in illa habes: vitam Thucydidis ex Marcellino castigatiorem, nunc primum Latinatate donatum: eiusdem integrae historiae chronologiam cum singulorum librorum brevibus argumentis: adhaec concionum sive orationum quas hic auctor ut frequentieis ita prefficicileis habet, catalogum, necnon argumenta earundem elegantissima. Quae Omnia suos quaeque authores suo loco praeferunt. Cum indice. The translation of Lorenzo Valla has been examined again by Henri Estienne. In this second edition, which you have, is more accurate in many parts than the first and is also better and more complete. Contents of the book you hold are: the brief life of Thucydides from Macellinus now offered for the first time in a pure Latin style; the chronology of this entire history with brief summaries of each book; in addition the addresses or rather speeches which are common and difficult in this author; a catalog; and also very elegant summaries of these speeches. Everything is displayed before its authors in its place. An index is included.
